

Levittown Taxes Differ Only Slightly

By GORDON PARKER

If you plan to move to Levittown or maybe change from one Levittown house to another, here is a tip—the section in Tullytown has the lowest taxes.

But relax, don't start to pack your belongings and plan to move because you probably won't be sections of Levittown. Taxes vary able to get in. Tullytown is the smallest of the four municipalities embracing the new community. There are only about 500 Tullytown homes of the 14,000 in Levittown.

But if you can't get into Tullytown you can console yourself by moving into or remaining in the Bristol township or Falls township with Middletown township running a poor fourth.

It is not too surprising that

Tullytown has the lowest taxes since the mammoth Levittown Shopping Center is in the tiny borough and pays a large part of the taxes.

The surprise is that taxes in Bristol township are less than in Falls township. It has always been assumed that Falls township, which is blessed with the huge Fairless Works of the

U. S. Steel Corp., would be in one of the most favorable tax positions.

But a check on the taxes levied by the four municipalities shows the average family in Falls township pays $166.70 a year to the local and county governments and the school district. The average pays $3.30 a year less, or $163.40. The Tullytown total is $156.20. The average Levittown family in Middletown township, which has an almost complete lack of industrial or commercial property at this time, pays $205.17. These figures are based on 1956. They will more than likely be Levittown in Bristol township changes next year.

The tax figures were based on a family with two adults living in a "Levittown" type home, except in Middletown. There are no "Levittowners" in Middletown so a "Jubilee" was used. The assessment on a "Levittowner" is $2250 while a "Jubilee" is assessed at $2730.

This difference accounts in part for the high taxes paid by Levittowners living in Middletown.

The biggest source of revenue is real estate taxes. All but $3.20 of the taxes paid by Tullytown residents comes from real estate taxes. The real estate portion isn't as high in the other municipalities, but it runs at

Good Evening!
Speaking of health, the President's okay.

That's what the doctors say as the last roundup of politicking begins and it's good enough for us, for everybody. Vote-getting or not, we all like to know Mr. Eisenhower's in fine and normal fettle.

Democrats had themselves quite a day in Lower Bucks county Saturday, incidentally, and there's no question about interest in the outcome of this local campaigning.

This Joe Clark, shooting for an upset over Senator Jim Duff, quite a fellow, incidentally, and his stature over the state growing by the day.

Hungarian civil war beginning to cool slightly as Rebels win sweeping concessions from the Communist government.

If the Kremlin didn't know before, it should have learned during the past two weeks that yearning for freedom is infinitely more powerful than the greatest of military might.

The world owes more to Poland and Hungary than it will ever be able to repay. Those uprisings represent the most tremendous jolt to the Soviet conspiracy for global enslavement it has received since early in World War II.

But we dislike seeing the Middle East preparing itself for trouble. You just never know.

Lovely skies over all of Lower Bucks today, however, and they compensate a little for the clouds partial to the clouds yesterday.

Saturday football? What's this game coming to, anyhow? The BIG games aren't big any more; They're just lopsided scoring marathons.

Most accidents occurring in the home have nothing to do with hobby working late at the office.

Why can't people be satisfied with the knowledge that they are at least not as old as they're going to be?

Envelopes Distributed By Firemen

Fairless Hills Fire Co. President John Rock announced today that fund-raising material for the damaged fire truck was distributed the past Thursday and Friday and the company will pick up the envelopes the latter part of this week.

The damage to the truck still is undetermined, Mr. Rock said, as no official report from the insurance adjusters has been received.

The fire company received a pumper truck on a loan basis and it was put into immediate service, keeping the company's workable equipment of three trucks fully staffed, Mr. Rock said.

The fund drive will be used to help defray costs not covered by insurance in repairing or replacing the company's damaged truck. No decision has been reached on whether to repair or junk the truck.

Part of the money raised will be used to pay off the remaining debt on the company's new squad car and to replace equipment on the damaged pumper, Mr. Rock said.

Firemen Hold Dedication

The fire station and engine of the Third District Fire Co. No. 1 of Bristol Township were dedicated yesterday in a ceremony attended by some 300 persons, who heard President Louis Amadio announce that "This is only the beginning."

Firemen and officials of Bristol township and elsewhere in Lower Bucks County participated in the ceremony, which included a concert by the Delnash High School band. The band color guard participated in a flag raising with two Boy Scouts, hoisting to the firehouse pole an American flag that once flew over the national capitol, donated by U. S. Senator Edward Martin.

Featured Speaker

Featured speaker was John P. Fullam, fire company solicitor and Democratic candidate for Congress, who traced the history of the fire department through his services in drawing up and filing the legal papers. Mr. Amadio commended Mr. Fullam for his services, which he said were given without charge.

Church Fire

Alerts Neighbors

Mrs. William Ervin, wife of the Cornwells fire chief, 2310 Bristol pike, dropped a bag of clothes and ran when she saw the church on fire. She alerted her neighbors who rushed to the scene.

"The smoke was so black you couldn't see the next door house," Mrs. Ervin said. "You couldn't even tell whether the next house was on fire."

The church hymnals, soaked by the water, were set in the sun to dry on a porch store. The church Bible was also saved. Firemen removed the pews and the organ from the burning building.

The 75-foot aerial ladder truck of the Croydon Fire Co. was erected to fight flames from the church tower.

Fire companies on the scene included those of Newport, Newville, Cornwells No. 1, Union No. 1, Eddington and Croydon.

GRASS FIRE QUILLED

A grass fire that raged near the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks by Goodwill No. 3 fire house was put out by members of Bristol Consolidated and No. 3 fire companies at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mystery Shrouds Skeleton Discovery

A skeleton was found in a wooded area of Trevose by two hunters Saturday.

The badly decomposed body, reported to be that of a woman, was found in brush at the edge of Poquessing Creek, on the Farm of Harry Cadwallader, 4754 Somerton road, Trevose.

William T. Miles, 55, and his son Donald, 20, of 3008 Tyson avenue, Philadelphia, stumbled upon the partly clothed skeleton about noon, while hunting in the area.

The remains were examined by Dr. Fred Philips, deputy county coroner. The skeleton was judged to be that of a woman, about five feet two inches tall, and who weighed about 110 pounds.

Her clothing has been sent to the State Police laboratory in Harrisburg for examination.

There are no reports of foul play, however an investigation is underway, according to the office of Bucks County Coroner Thomas C. Lamh.

The body is believed to have been in the wooded area for several months. It was not identified.

Working on the case with county detectives are troopers D. C. Allen and James Faillace of State Police at the Fairless Hills barracks, and Sergeant Norman Riga, by William Johnson and Patrick Meehan of Bensalem police.

Brown shoes resembling men's oxfords were found on the woman. The body also was draped in a muslin slip and pink-colored dress.

United Press correspondent Anthony J. Cavendish reached Budapest today from Warsaw and met the long line of Soviet men and machines returning to their bases.

The Communist government had announced earlier that many Soviet tank units had withdrawn from Budapest and it appeared the rebels had won a major victory in their fight for freedom.

Budapest Radio today announced that all Hungarian soldiers had been authorized to remove the Soviet star from their uniforms and to replace it with the ancient Kossuth shield of Hungary.

That order was too late — most of the soldiers already had done so.

The announcement came in a joint appeal of the ministries of defense and interior which also urged police and soldiers to "obey all orders of the people's army command backed by the newly formed government."

It was clear that if the Soviets have pulled out and are awaiting their return to Russia, then the possibility of a million chance would have been pulled off — the toppling of absolute Communist rule in a Soviet satellite.

Judge Satterthwaite made a decree dismissing plaintiffs' (Farbers) complaint and placed the costs on them.

Rear End Crash Injures Two

A Hulmeville man and woman suffered sprained necks Saturday morning when their car was hit in the rear by a truck at the Bristol township intersection of Route 13 and Route 413.

Treated at Lower Bucks County hospital, they were John Corrigan, 57, and Alice Corrigan, 55. Sgt. Robert Hibbs and Patrolman Henry Kleckner, of township police, said John Corrigan, driving, had stopped at the intersection to make a left turn when his car was hit in the rear by a truck driven by James A. Clark, 1618 Ferry avenue, Riverside, N.J.

Drunk Driving Charged In Crash

A Levittown driver involved in a rear-end crash in Bristol yesterday afternoon faced a hearing today on a drunk driving charge.

He was identified by borough police as William Reed, of 37 Gent road. Patrolmen Henry Spinelli and Earl Trimble said Reed's car hit the rear of a car operated by Helen Lavenberg, 221 Madison street, Bristol, who was preparing to make a left turn from Farragut avenue into Jackson street. Both cars were facing east.

The officers said Reed was pronounced intoxicated in a test at Lower Bucks County hospital. The front of his car and the rear of the other car were damaged. No injuries were reported.

Auditors Ask Writ Dismissal

Bensalem Township auditors, this weekend, answered the township supervisors mandamus action and asked the court to dismiss it on the grounds that it was not properly filed.

Auditors Chester Korona, Frank Buck, and James Strange, who filed preliminary objections to the supervisors' action in common pleas court, asked the court to strike out the mandamus because they claim that the supervisors are not the proper party to maintain the action.

Interested persons from Blue Ridge, Yellowwood, and Indian Creek are invited to attend.

Falls Police Lodge Charge After Crash

A driver was charged with failing to yield the right of way as the result of an accident Saturday morning at 12:20 a.m. on Tyburn road near the intersection of Route 13.

Moik Lesyk, 35, of Morrisville, RD 1, made a left hand turn from the right side of Tyburn road, and collided with a car driven by Ronald B. Best, 22, residing at the Oxford Valley Traile Park on U. S. Route 1, who was attempting to pass, police said.

The left front fender of the Lesyk vehicle was damaged, and damage to the Best auto was the right front fender.

Richard Chalifoux, of the Falls Township Police investigated.

Yesterday, while attempting to adjust the radio in his car, James T. Coime, Edgewood road, Woodside, ran off Roeloff road, near Fallsington and into a ditch.

Coime was not injured.

Damage to the car was a bent fender.

Falls Township policeman Robert Dapp investigated.

that "American imperialist circles" were behind the uprising. Such a charge is an "insult to our people," it said. The revolution was a "national uprising directed by the free will of the Hungarian people."

The big victory was the withdrawal of the Soviets — a withdrawal promised by Nagy Sunday night when the rebels swore they would march on Budapest with seven Hungarian divisions if he did not capitulate.

But other Communist broadcasts told of smaller victories — the end of the hated Soviet Red star on army uniforms; the banning of the Russian greeting "comrade" by the Hungarian armed forces.

Time Out For Lunch

Democratic candidates took time out from their county wide tour Saturday for lunch at the Fountain House, Doylestown. Joseph S. Clark, candidate for the U. S. He said the township and county Democrats had exploded the "myth" Republicans have "sought to perpetuate" that people automatically gravitate to the Republican party when they move to semi-rural communities from large urban centers.

DeSapio said Nixon "represents the core of cynicism which is rotting the Republican Party from within."

"Nixon's two-faced courtship of labor; his alleged and abrupt conversion to minority causes; his sudden attempt to embrace political and social theories which are totally alien to his true personal philosophy; these things today typify the Republican Party's ruthless and headlong quest for votes," DeSapio added.

Day-Long Tour

For Clark the dinner was the climax of a day-long tour of the county, in which he addressed an estimated 3000 persons and greeted thousands of others.

Clark started out at 10 a.m. in Sellersville, moved to Quakertown and stopped off for lunch in Doylestown. He held a press conference in the county seat. At the conference he spoke of charges that Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman, got contributions for the GOP in connection with contracts for the construction of a nickel plant in Cuba. "A prima facie case has been made out against him for which he could be sent to jail," Clark stated.

In the afternoon he visited George School, Newtown, and stopped in at the Bristol Farmer's Market, Route 413, Bristol Township. He gave a short talk in the Christmas home decorating contest sponsored by the Levittown Civic Association. Although Christmas seems quite a way off, the decoration committee is busy lining up judges and prizes for the event. If you're interested, call Joe Segal, at WI-6-7876.

Levittown Taxes Differ Only Slightly

By GORDON PARKER

If you plan to move to Levittown or maybe change from one Levittown house to another, here is a tip—the section in Tullytown has the lowest taxes.

But relax, don't start to pack your belongings and plan to move because you probably won't be able to get in. Tullytown is the smallest of the four municipalities embracing the new community. There are only about 500 Tullytown homes of the 14,000 in Levittown.

But if you can't get into Tullytown you can console yourself by moving into or remaining in the Bristol township or Falls township sections of Levittown. Taxes vary slightly with these three. Bristol township, which has a majority of the Levittown homes, is not far behind Tullytown in the race for low tax honors. Not far off the pace set by Tullytown and Bristol township is Falls township with Middletown township running a poor fourth.

It is not too surprising that

Tullytown has the lowest taxes since the mammoth Levittown Shopping Center is in the tiny borough and pays a large part of the taxes.

The surprise is that taxes in Bristol township are less than those in Falls township. It has always been assumed that Falls township, which is blessed with the huge Fairless Works of the pays $3.30 a year less, or $163.40. The Tullytown total is $156.20. The average Levittown family in Middletown township, which has an almost complete lack of industrial or commercial property at this time, pays $205.17.

U. S. Steel Corp., would be in one of the most favorable tax positions.

But a check on the taxes levied by the four municipalities shows the average family in Falls township pays $166.70 a year to the local and county governments and the school district. The average Levittown in Bristol township changes next year.

These figures are based on 1956. There will more than likely be

The tax figures were based on a family with two adults living in a "Levittown" type home, except in Middletown. There are no "Levittowners" in Middletown so a "Jubilee" was used. The assessment on a "Levittowner" is $2250 while a "Jubilee" is assessed at $2730.

This difference accounts in part for the high taxes paid by

The biggest source of revenue is real estate taxes. All but $3.20 of the taxes paid by Tullytown residents comes from real estate taxes. The real estate portion isn't as high in the other municipalities but it runs at

Hungary Revolt Nears End

Radio Reports Rebels Laying Down Arms

Russian Troops
Said To Be Leaving
Hungarian Capital

VIENNA — UP — Rebels in Budapest have begun to lay down their arms and Russian troops and tanks are leaving the battle-scarred city, radio Budapest announced tonight.

The broadcast said Russian troops "will complete their withdrawal from Budapest 24 hours after all resistance groups have delivered their arms."

The broadcast—if it could be believed—indicated an agreement had been reached between the rebels and the government of Premier Imre Nagy.

But the first announcement by Budapest radio was treated with caution. There have been several broadcast reports that the revolution was over, peace restored and order reinstated. Each such announcement was followed by a new outbreak in fighting.

Giving up Arms

"Resistance groups in Budapest have started to deliver their arms to the Hungarian troops," radio Budapest said.

There was no direct confirmation from Budapest.

Communications between the Hungarian capital and the West were still cut off, with only sporadic contact during the morning.

A dispatch filed by United Press Staff Correspondent Anthony Cavendish from Budapest at 9:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m., EST) said, "Soviet tanks are still here."

But a great number of tanks and infantry were pulling out of the city last night as Cavendish walked in following a flight from Warsaw.

Budapest radio itself complained at 4 p.m. (10 a.m., EST) that Soviet forces were not leaving fast enough.

Claim Full Victory

Nagy's party mouthpiece, Szabad Nep, said the revolution was a "full victory" for the Hungarian people.

Battling to Save Steeple

Firefighters battled flames and smoke in an effort to save the steeple of the Cornwells Methodist Church. The fire started about 11 a.m. today apparently as a result of sparks from painter's blow torches burning off excess paint from the frame structure. Water damage to the ceiling of the church was heavy, fire company officials reported, and it is feared the ceiling may fall due to the heavy water damage. (Courtesy and Times Photo)

Cornwells Church

Six fire companies were called to the Cornwells Methodist Church late this morning when fire from a painter's blowtorch spread to the roof and ceiling of the building, causing $5000 in damage.

The Rev. Thomas E. Anderman, pastor, called firemen at 11 a.m. when he observed flames near a corner window where a workman was burning off paint. The fire spread to the ceiling and roof. Area firemen were called. The church is a small white frame building.

Demo Bus-Cade Plans Revised

Volunteers for Stevenson and Keauver today announced that the planned "bus-cade" to the Philadelphia Stevenson rally tomorrow evening has been rescheduled to leave the Levittown Shopping Center, and Mill Street, Bristol, at 5:45 p.m.

The opinion of the Court clearly shows that only one commission, not two, was charged and paid to Mr. Eastburn and that payment was agreed to by plaintiffs (Faber) and was never questioned or protested by them until nearly five years later, when they brought their suit.

Judge Satterthwaite found as fact that Mr. Eastburn was not even in the country at the very time (Feb. 27, 1951) the Fabers swore he drew and obtained their opinion, are happy. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Phone Call Lures Victims From Home

Burglars lured a Langhorne couple out of their home with a fake telephone message last night and then broke into the house and stole $11,000 in furs and cash.

Paul C. Voltz, of Hulmeville and Central avenues, Langhorne Manor, told State Police that he and his wife, Doris, rushed out of their house after an unidentified caller said one of his oil trucks was on fire.

Voltz said he drove to the bulk oil plant on old Route 13, near Otter street, Bristol, only to find the call was a "prank." But when he returned home he found burglars had broken in and stolen six fur pieces from a hall closet.

Ransack Drawer

Burglars had smashed a first floor bedroom window to enter the house. Voltz said they ransacked a jewelry drawer in the bedroom, as well as stealing the furs and the money which was kept in a metal box in the living room.

Voltz said thieves overlooked several valuable pieces of jewelry in shuffling through the drawer. He stated a diamond wrist watch and at least one diamond ring were left behind by the burglars.

The furs, Voltz said, were kept in a hall closet. The six pieces stolen were valued at $6000. About $2500 in cash was taken from the metal box along with $2600 in the steelworkers contracts written into the nation last summer. Meanwhile, the steel producers are seeking another hike for their product, contending that the $8.50-a-ton increase of last August was not sufficient to maintain previous profit margins.

If the U. S. Government consumer price index stays at its high peak Nov. 15 or goes higher, members of the United Steelworkers union, AFL-CIO, will get hourly wage increases of two to three cents next year, the Wall Street Journal reported this morning.

The raises would come about automatically under cost-of-living escalator clauses written into the steelworkers contracts across the nation last summer. Meanwhile, the steel producers are seeking another hike for their product, contending that the $8.50-a-ton increase of last August was not sufficient to maintain previous profit margins.

The Journal said wage increase would "clinch" the companies' action to raise the price of steel. The consumer index hit a new high in September, 117.1 percent of the 1947-49 average.

Not Political

A spokesman for the special Fairless Steel Plant committee organizing a protest to the $2 increase in union dues, today denied the movement was political.

Envelopes Distributed By Firemen

Fairless Hills Fire Co. President John Rock announced today that fund-raising material for the damaged fire truck was distributed the past Thursday and Friday and the company will pick up the envelopes the latter part of this week.

The damage to the truck still is undetermined, Mr. Rock said, as no official report from the insurance adjusters has been received.

The fire company received a pumper truck on a loan basis and it was put into immediate service, keeping the company's workable equipment of three trucks fully staffed, Mr. Rock said.

The fund drive will be used to help defray costs not covered by insurance in repairing or replacing the company's damaged truck. No decision has been reached on whether to repair or junk the truck.

Part of the money raised will be used to pay off the remaining debt on the company's new squad car and to replace equipment on the damaged pumper, Mr. Rock said.

Firemen Hold Dedication

The fire station and engine of the Third District Fire Co. No. 1 of Bristol Township were dedicated yesterday in a ceremony attended by some 300 persons, who heard President Louis Amadio announce that "This is only the beginning."

Firemen and officials of Bristol township and elsewhere in Lower Bucks County participated in the ceremony, which included a concert by the Delhaas High School band. The band color guard participated in a flag raising with two Boy Scouts, hoisting to the fire house pole an American flag that once flew over the national capitol, donated by U. S. Senator Edward Martin.

Featured Speaker

Featured speaker was John P. Fullam, fire company solicitor and Democratic candidate for Congress, who traced the history of the fire department through his services in drawing up and filing the legal papers. Mr. Amadio commended Mr. Fullam for his services, which he said were given without charge.

the roof.

Alerts Neighbors

Mrs. William Ervin, wife of the Cornwells fire chief, 2310 Bristol pike, dropped a bag of clothes and ran when she saw the church on fire. She alerted her neighbors who rushed to the scene.

"The smoke was so black you couldn't see the next door house," Mrs. Ervin said. "You couldn't even tell whether the next house was on fire."

The church hymns, soaked by the water, were set in the sun to dry on a porch store. The church Bible was also saved. Firemen removed the pews and the organ from the burning building.

The 75-foot aerial ladder truck of the Croydon Fire Co. was erected to fight flames in the church tower.

Fire companies on the scene included those of Newport, Newville, Cornwells No. 1, Union No. 1, Eddington and Croydon.

GRASS FIRE QUELLED A grass fire that raged near the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks by Goodwill No. 3 fire house was put out by members of Bristol Consolidated and No. 3 fire companies at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mystery Shrouds Skeleton Discovery

A skeleton was found in a wooded area of Trevose by two hunters Saturday.

The badly decomposed body, reported to be that of a woman, was found in brush at the edge of Poquessing Creek, on the farm of Harry Cadwallader, 4754 Somerton road, Trevose.

William T. Miles, 55, and his son Donald, 20, of 3008 Tyson avenue, Philadelphia, stumbled upon the partly clothed skeleton about noon, while hunting in the area.

The remains were examined by Dr. Fred Philips, deputy county coroner. The skeleton was judged to be that of a woman, about five feet two inches tall, and who weighed about 110 pounds.

Her clothing had been sent to the State Police laboratory in Harrisburg for examination.

There are no reports of foul play, however an investigation is underway, according to the office of Bucks County Coroner Thomas C. Lamb.

The body is believed to have been in the wooded area for several months. It was not identified.

Working on the case with county detectives are troopers D. C. Allen and James Faillace of State Police at the Fairless Hills barracks, and Sergeant Norman Rigby, William Johnson and Patrick Meenan of Bensalem police.

"I started to leave and my wife decided to come with me. We rushed to the plant only to find there was no fire. We checked with Bristol police and they said they hadn't gotten any reports of a fire. We thought it was just a prank, until we got home," said Voltz, who is chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee in Bucks county.

He added that his wife told him someone called last Tuesday but hung up when she answered.

"They must have had someone watching the house for us to leave. There isn't a public telephone booth within five blocks of the house; one man couldn't have done it himself," Voltz said.

Judge Satterthwaite made a decree dismissing plaintiffs' (Farbers) complaint and placed the costs on them.

The petitions will be presented to local officials before next Monday so they can be brought up for consideration at the Nov. 15 meeting of the local.

Another member of the protest committee, Dan Mercer, said: "There is no question about an increase in dues helping the local, and I doubt that anyone would object to that, but any cash that we have can be impounded at any time by the international. So, in fact, any dues increase could revert to the international at any time it chose." He explained that half of the $2 increase will go to the international and the other half will go to the local command.

Judge Satterthwaite made a decree dismissing plaintiffs' (Farbers) complaint and placed the costs on them.

Rear End Crash Injures Two

A Hulmeville man and woman suffered sprained necks Saturday morning when their car was hit in the rear by a truck at the Bristol township intersection of Route 13 and Route 413.

Treated at Lower Bucks County hospital, they were John Corrigan, 57, and Alice Corrigan, 55, Sgt. Robert Hibbs and Patrolman Henry Kleckner, of township police, said John Corrigan, driving, had stopped at the intersection to make a left turn when his car was hit in the rear by a truck driven by James Clark, 1618 Ferry avenue, Rutherford, N.J.

Auditors Ask Writ Dismissal

Bensalem Township auditors, this weekend, answered the township supervisors' mandamus action and asked the court to dismiss it on the grounds that it was not properly filed.

Auditors Chester Korana, Frank Buck, and James Strange, who filed preliminary objections to the supervisors' action in common pleas court, asked the court to strike out the mandamus because they claim that the supervisors are not the proper party to maintain the action.

The officers said Reed was pronounced intoxicated in a test at Lower Bucks County hospital. The front of his car and the rear of the other car were damaged. No injuries were reported.

Bucks Hunting Opens Safely

No gunning accidents in Lower Bucks were reported by Lower Bucks County hospital, Delaware Valley hospital, or State Police at the Fairless Hills barracks, with the start of the season, Saturday.

However, Lower Bucks hospital reported George Arbour, Almsbury road, Ivyland, was treated and discharged for a gunshot wound of the right foot, suffered while cleaning his gun yesterday afternoon.

Interested persons from Blue Ridge, Yellowwood, and Indian Creek are invited to attend.

3 Sections Plan Baby Sitting Co-op

An organizational meeting to form a Baby Sitting Co-Op will take place tonight at the home of Mrs. Milton Russak, 14 Black Walnut road, Blue Ridge, Levittown, at 9 p.m.

Interested persons from Blue Ridge, Yellowwood, and Indian Creek are invited to attend.

Falls Police Lodge Charge After Crash

A driver was charged with failing to yield the right of way as the result of an accident Saturday morning at 12:20 a.m., on Tyburn road near the intersection of Route 13.

Moik Lesyk, 35, of Morrisville, RD 1, made a left hand turn from the right side of Tyburn road, and collided with a car driven by Ronald B. Best, 22, residing at the Oxford Valley Trailer Park on U. S. Route 1, who was attempting to pass, police said.

The left front fender of the Lesyk vehicle was damaged, and damage to the Best auto was the right front fender.

Richard Chalifoux, of the Falls Township Police investigated.

Yesterday, while attempting to adjust the radio in his car, James T. Coime, Edgewood road, Woodside, ran off Roeloff road, near Fallsington and into a ditch.

Coime was not injured.

Damage to the car was a bent fender.

Falls Township policeman Robert Dapp investigated.

The body is believed to have been in the wooded area for several months. It was not identified.

Working on the case with county detectives are troopers D. C. Allen and James Faillace of State Police at the Fairless Hills barracks, and Sergeant Norman Rigby, William Johnson and Patrick Meenan of Bensalem police.

Democrats At Big Dinner

Good Evening!

Speaking of health, the President's okay.

That's what the doctors say as the last roundup of politicking begins and it's good enough for us, for everybody. Vote-getting or not, we all like to know Mr. Eisenhower's in fine and normal fettle.

Democrats had themselves quite a day in Lower Bucks county Saturday, incidentally, and there's no question about interest in the outcome of this local campaign.

This Joe Clark, shooting for an upset over Senator Jim Duff, quite a fellow, incidentally, and his stature over the state growing by the day.

Hungarian civil war beginning to cool slightly as Rebels win sweeping concessions from the Communist government.

If the Kremlin didn't know before, it should have learned during the past two weeks that yearning for freedom is infinitely more powerful than the greatest of military might.

The world owes more to Poland and Hungary than it will ever be able to repay. Those uprisings represent the most tremendous jolt to the Soviet conspiracy for global enslavement it has received since early in World War II.

But we dislike seeing the Middle East preparing itself for trouble. You just never know.

Lovely skies over all of Lower Bucks today, however, and they compensate a little for the clouds elsewhere.

Saturday football? What's this game coming to, anyhow? The BIG games aren't big any more; they're just lopsided scoring marathons.

Most accidents occurring in the home have nothing to do with hubby working late at the office.

Why can't people be satisfied with the knowledge that they are at least not as old as they're going to be?

If you drive, be careful.

450 Attend Party Rally In Edgely

Fullam, Brennan Among Honored Guests At $6-A-Plate Fete

By GORDON PARKER
Courier and Times Staff Writer

Tammany Hall leader Carmine DeSapio delivered a bitter, scathing attack on President Eisenhower, his administration, Vice President Nixon and the Republican Party in general in a speech before the Bristol Township Democratic Organization's second annual dinner-dance, Saturday night.

In legal action, which asks $35,000 in damages, Mr. Caputo, a sales executive, charges he was falsely imprisoned with consequent damages to his reputation and character.

The charges, filed in Common Pleas Court No. 3, Philadelphia, were brought against real estate broker Roy A. Schott, of Frankford avenue, and attorney Robert Boyd, Jr., with offices in the Western Saving Fund building.

According to the complaint, on June 18, 1954, Caputo was making settlement for the Feasterville man's residence he purchased from Schott, agent for the owner. He ran short of cash at the settlement and Schott loaned him $114. Caputo gave Schott a check for the money which, it was al-

Burned-Out Family Helped

Proceeds from Saturday night's Halloween dance, sponsored by Nottingham Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7903, will be turned over to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Drescher, of 2756 Bellevue drive, Nottingham, whose home was burned Thursday.

Since all money has not been turned in, the amount of the donation is not known, according to Mrs. B. Sanders, publicity director of the post auxiliary.

The Drescher family has moved into the post home on Dudley Farms, Richlieu road, near Nottingham. The building was cleaned and prepared by members of the post. The Dreschers will stay there until their home is remodeled.

Mrs. Drescher is president of the auxiliary, and her husband is a member of the VFW.

Woman's Body Is Mystery For Police

No Identification Can Be Made As Coroner Is Called

A skeleton was found in a wooded area of Trevose by two hunters Saturday.

The badly decomposed body, reported to be that of a woman, was found in brush at the edge of Poquessing Creek, on the Farm of Harry Cadwallader, 4754 Somerton road, Trevose.

William T. Miles, 55, and his son Donald, 20, of 3008 Tyson avenue, Philadelphia, stumbled upon the partly clothed skeleton about noon, while hunting in the area.

The remains were examined by Dr. Fred Phillips, deputy county coroner. The skeleton was judged to be that of a woman, about five feet two inches tall, and weighed about 110 pounds.

No foul play reported

Her clothing has been sent to the State Police laboratory in Harrisburg for examination. There are no reports of foul play, however an investigation is underway, according to the office of Bucks County Coroner Thomas C. Lamb.

The body is believed to have been in the wooded area for several months. It was not identified.

Working on the case with county detectives are troopers D. C. Allen and James Faillace of State Police at the Fairless Hills barracks, and Sergeant Norman Rigby, William Johnson and Patrick Meehan of Bensalem police.

Brown shoes resembling men's oxfords were found on the woman. The body also was draped in a muslin slip and pink-colored dress.

Ike, Adlai In Windups

President Eisenhower took off on a one-day campaign for Florida and Virginia votes today after a "routine" delay in departure during which he received last-minute word on the tense Middle Eastern situation.

The President had expressed "grave concern" over Israel's mobilization Sunday. His departure today was postponed from 8 to 8:40 a.m. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the delay had nothing to do with developments in the Middle East but said the President had received a telephone report from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before leaving for the airport.

Leads Retail Drive

Thomas Keefe, a director of the Bucks County United Fund and president of Bristol Local 1462, AFL Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, who is directing the solicitation of small businesses for the United Fund campaign in Bristol township.

Bristol Carpenters Aid United Fund

Nine busy Bristol township carpenters this month have devoted their spare time to an important bit of "pioneering" for the Bucks County United Community Fund, the solicitation of 300 retail business places in the United Fund campaign.

The job has been largely one of pioneering for Thomas Keefe, of Croydon, Bristol township chairman for small businesses in Lower Bucks, and his eight workers, because their course was uncharted. Most of the businesses to which they carry the appeal have never before been solicited for the United Fund.

The small business drive in Bristol township wasn't planned as a Carpenters union project. Division Chairman James D. Logan asked Mr. Keefe to direct it because of his interest and service

Trade Journal Sees Steel Wage Hike

If the U. S. Government consumer price index stays at its high peak Nov. 15 or goes higher, members of the United Steelworkers union, AFL-CIO, will get hourly wage increases of two to three cents next year, the Wall Street Journal reported this morning.

The raises would come about automatically under cost-of-living escalator clauses written into the steelworkers contracts across the nation last summer. Meanwhile, the steel producers are seeking another hike for their product, contending that the $8.50-a-ton increase of last August was not sufficient to maintain previous profit margins.

The Journal said wage increase would "clinch" the companies' action to raise the price of steel. The consumer index hit a new high in September, 117.1 percent of the 1947-49 average.

'Not Political'

A spokesman for the special Fairless Steel Plant committee organizing a protest to the $2 increase in union dues, today denied the movement was "political."

John Catania, spokesman for a special 15-man protest committee, which is circulating petitions at the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel, said "any attempt by the international or any local unions to brand this protest as political would be an untruth. Actually, action of this kind strengthens the union. What kind of union would we have if we accepted as doctrine anything the international handed us." Carmine Pesante, chairman of the committee, added,

"It is in all sincerity that we are conducting this drive."

He announced that the committee had secured 1200 signatures to the protest petitions, which asks Local 4889 to go on record opposing

Phone Call Lures Victims From Home

Burglars lured a Langhorne couple out of their home with a fake telephone message last night and then broke into the house and stole $11,000 in furs and cash.

Paul C. Voltz, of Hulmeville and Central avenues, Langhorne Manor, told State Police that he and his wife, Doris, rushed out of their house after an unidentified caller said one of his oil trucks was on fire.

Voltz said he drove to the bulk oil plant on old Route 13, near Otter street, Bristol, only to find the call was a "prank." But when he returned home he found burglars had broken in and stolen six fur pieces from a hall closet.

Ransack Drawer

Burglars had smashed a first floor bedroom window to enter the house. Voltz said they ransacked a jewelry drawer in the bedroom, as well as stealing the furs and the money which was kept in a metal box in the living room.

Voltz said that one of the fur pieces, a mink stole, had been recovered already. Neighbors found it lying on the sidewalk near the corner of Hulmeville and Gillam avenues, a block from the Voltz home.

The furs, Voltz said, were kept in a hall closet. The six pieces stolen were valued at $6000. About $2500 in cash was taken from the metal box along with $2600 in checks.

Nagy's party mouthpiece, Szabad Nep, said the revolution was a "full victory" for the Hungarian people.

And it rejected Soviet charges that "American imperialist circles" were behind the uprising. Such a charge is an "insult to our people," it said. The revolution was a "national uprising directed by the free will of the Hungarian people."

The big victory was the withdrawal of the Soviets — a withdrawal promised by Nagy Sunday night when the rebels swore they would march on Budapest with seven Hungarian divisions if he did not capitulate.

But other Communist broadcasts told of smaller victories — the end of the hated Soviet Red star on army uniforms; the banning of the Russian greeting "comrade" by the Hungarian armed forces.

Trevose Outfits Converse With California By Radio

A clear voice came from the radio receiver, and Fred Benz, chief radio engineer of the Trevo Heights Fire Company and Rescue Squad, asked it to identify itself.

"The Pasadena Volunteer Fire company" was the reply.

Freak Transmission

A freak transmission of radio waves must have caused it. But whatever the cause — Mr. Benz was able to talk to the man from Pasadena, Calif., on Saturday, as clearly as he talks to the stations in Trevose and Feasterville.

Soon the Trevose Fire Company joined in and talked to Pasadena. Then Feasterville took its turn, and even Warminster got in on the coast-to-coast conversation.

Even the mobile units of the Trevose and Trevose Heights companies were able to carry on clear conversation with Pasadena.

The California operator told of other freak calls. He had reached Massachusetts and Long Island that morning.

Trevose Heights operates a 100-watt system. The Pasadena outfit operates from 500 watts. The Heights station usually carries 60 to 70 miles.

It was 2:05 p.m. in Trevose and 11:06 a.m. in Pasadena when the contact was made.

Probe Enters New Angle

PHILADELPHIA — UP — District Attorney Victor H. Blane said today Federal and State investigators were checking reports that a vice ring using teen-age girl models had engaged in a "nation-wide, multi-million dollar" obscene picture business.

Blane said the investigators "were getting in on the distribution phase of operation."

Federal Probe Asked

The district attorney announced the new angle in the investigation of the alleged ring after Pennsylvania Republican Senators James H. Duff and Edward Martin and 10 GOP congressional candidates pledged to ask a federal investigation of vice activities in Philadelphia.

They urged immediate action by U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, describing Blane's recent arrest of 18 suspects as "only small fry" in the ring's activities.

Those arrested included radio and television personalities.

Some investigators said the distribution of obscene films and photographs was the principal reason for the ring's activities. The ring was charged with luring teen-age girls with promises of profitable modeling jobs.

False Arrest

(Continued from Page One) Schott, was to have been held by Schott as a promissory note. Instead Schott attempted to cash it and it bounced.

As a result, Schott employed attorney Boyd to collect the loan. On May 7, 1956, a warrant was issued for Caputo's arrest on charges of making and passing a worthless check. He was arrested on May 9 and he was held for grand jury.

Caputo alleges he was put to great expense in hiring legal counsel and was forced to submit to "humiliation, pain and suffering."

Five Fatalities Mark 1st Day Of Hunting

By UNITED PRESS

A father was shot to death by his son and a teen-aged boy was killed Saturday as five fatalities marked the first full day of the Pennsylvania small game hunting season. One of the deaths was from a heart attack.

William L. Falk, Sr., 39, of Allentown, was shot to death by his son, Edwin, 16, while hunting near his home, police said. The investigators said the boy became excited when a dog flushed a pheasant and fired a shot. The blast struck his parent.

Fourteen-year-old John Pita of Sagon, Northumberland county, was wounded fatally while hunting near Shamokin. Police said they were not certain whether the boy tripped and discharged his own gun, or whether he was struck by a shot fired by a cousin.

James L. Sproull, 33, of Parker, RD 2, was shot to death while hunting rabbits in Armstrong county, with a neighbor. Police said Samuel Orton, 19, fired at a rabbit which darted from a brush pile in front of Sproull. The charge struck Sproull in the back, killing him instantly.

Homer Bigler, 57, of Longfellow, Mifflin county, was killed when he shot himself accidentally while hunting a dog near his home.

Leroy L. Pottenger, 53, of Greenacres, died of a heart attack near Hershey.

Rebels Win

The Communist government had announced earlier that many Soviet tank units had withdrawn from Budapest and it appeared the rebels had won a major victory in their fight for freedom.

Budapest Radio today announced that all Hungarian soldiers had been authorized to remove the Soviet star from their uniforms and to replace it with the ancient Kossuth shield of Hungary.

That order was too late — most of the soldiers already had done so.

Ask Obedience

The announcement came in a joint appeal of the ministries of defense and interior which also urged police and soldiers to "obey their orders from the people's army command backed by the newly formed government."

It was clear that if the Soviets have pulled out and are awaiting their return to Russia, then the one-in-a-million chance would have been pulled off — the toppling of absolute Communist rule in a Soviet satellite.

It was 2:05 p.m. in Trevose and 11:06 a.m. in Pasadena when the contact was made.

Trevose Heights Squad Participates

The Trevose Heights Rescue Squad will participate in flag raising ceremonies at the National Biscuit Company, Roosevelt boulevard, today.

Today and tomorrow have been set aside to mark the "grand opening" of the company's recently constructed building.
